EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP ENDORSEMENT

Learn from instructors who are current and former school administrators sharing their real-world experience.

AT A GLANCE

Leadership Skills for Educators

The skills you learn in these courses will help you create, measure, and evaluate programs, direct and mentor others, and lead your peers at the school and district level.

Inspiring Instructors

Longwood University is known for its unsurpassed educational leadership development. "Professionals mentoring other professionals" describes the endorsement format with educational leaders sharing their best practices, experience, and guidance. The endorsement coursework prepares teachers to become leaders among their peers.

Why an Endorsement?

- Offers potential for higher income
- Gives you the ability to specialize
- Opens doors for career change
- Increases job security: 92 percent of graduates have interviewed for or plan to apply for an administrative position.
